

Finding the Facts

An article's main text isn't the only place you can find important facts about a story. You can also uncover clues about key details within the article's text features. While reading "Ice-Cave Scientist," use the graphic organizer below to investigate the story's text features.

Text Features to Look For	Questions to Ask	Facts You Uncovered
1 Headline and smaller text underneath	What does the headline and the smaller text underneath tell you about the article?	<hr/> <hr/> <hr/> <hr/>
2 Questions and answers	How many questions does Jason Gulley answer? Why do you think the author chose to write the article as a question-and-answer story?	<hr/> <hr/> <hr/> <hr/>
3 Bold words	Were any of these words new to you? If so, which ones? How can you figure out their definitions?	<hr/> <hr/> <hr/> <hr/>
4 Photos and captions	Which photos did you find the most interesting? Why? What did you learn from their captions?	<hr/> <hr/> <hr/> <hr/>
5 Diagrams	Study the diagram on page 3. List at least two facts you learned from it.	<hr/> <hr/> <hr/> <hr/>